

NCAA Head Says Committee To Study Athletics Program As Result Of Streits Blasts

Bill Spivey Indicted For Perjury; Line, Hirsch To Appear

By Earl Cox

BULLETIN

Hugh C. Willett, president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, said Wednesday that the membership committee of the NCAA would make an investigation of the athletic policy and practices at the University.

The membership committee governs membership, and is the enforcement arm of the association. Willett said that Judge Streit's criticism prompted his decision.

The basketball fix scandal involving former University basketball players reached a climax this week when:

1. The University, Coach Adolph Rupp and the University's athletic set-up were blasted by New York Judge Saul S. Streit who dealt suspended sentences to ex-Kentucky All-Americans Alex Groza and Ralph Beard and Dale Barnstable.

2. Former Wildcat All-American Center Bill Spivey was charged with first degree perjury by a New York grand jury which indicted him on that charge. A fugitive warrant was issued for Spivey's arrest.

Judge Streit lashed out at University officials for making basketball a $100,000-a-year business and even encouraging players to crib in their examinations.

University officials were silent following Judge Streit's criticism. President Herman L. Donovan and Coach Rupp both were reported out of town when news of the blast reached Lexington. None of the UK officials reached by newsmen would comment.

In a statement released later, Dr. Leo M. Chamberlain, vice president, said, "In view of the serious character of the charges made by Judge Streit against the University of Kentucky and University officials it is my opinion that these charges should be considered and answered only after study by the highest authorities of the University, and after President Donovan's return to the campus."

COACH ADOLPH RUPP Target Of Judge's Attack

Dr. Leo Chamberlain, vice president, said that Judge Streit had four months in which to prepare a statement and that he thought the University should have at least a few days before making any comment.

Specifically, Judge Streit, in a prepared statement that took over an hour to deliver, charged:

1. That Kentucky spent $107,000 on its basketball team in 1951. A professional team spends only $25,000 more, he said.

2. That cribbing by Groza, Beard and Barnstable was "encouraged and tolerated by University officials."

3. That UK subsidized athletics in violation of amateur rules.

4. That unqualified students got into the University through athletic scholarships. Judge Streit charged the extensive use of athletic scholarships in certain colleges is "the darkest blot on American college athletics."

5. That Coach Rupp, alumni and townspeople of Lexington all shared in "demoralizing" the athletes.

Judge Streit went further with this charge when he said:

"The present athletic scandal at Kentucky can be traced directly to the inordinate desire by the trustees and alumni of Kentucky University for prestige and profit from sports."

6. That the athletic scholarship was used "as a bribe and trade under the guise of philanthropy," gave a "so-called education" for four years of service for football or basketball.

Blasting Rupp, Judge Streit said the coach discussed the point spreads on games with the boys, that he passed out $50 bills when they played good games, and that on at least one occasion he bawled them out for losing a game and costing Rupp's friend $500.

The judge said that Rupp admits the bawling out incident but denies that he showed players betting slips so they'd know by how much they were favored. Groza testified that he saw such slips.

"Coach Adolph Rupp failed in his duty to observe the amateur rules to build character and protect the morals and health of his charges," Judge Streit charged.

Specifically, Rupp was accused of:

1. "Deliberately sacrificing the physical welfare of star athletes."

2. "He openly subsidized the players."

3. "He referred to gambling on the games and the point spread."

Thus, Judge Streit said, the University and coach must share the responsibility with the fixers for corrupting and demoralizing Groza, Beard and Barnstable.

Judge Streit said that the National Collegiate Athletic Association was unable to enforce its rules on amateurism and he urged colleges to adopt the strict program suggested by the American Council on Education.

Judge Streit praised Gov. Lawrence Wetherby, President Donovan and Dean A. D. Kirwan for "their wholehearted co-operation" during the investigations.

For Groza, Beard and Barnstable it was as happy an ending as they could have expected. The men actually were placed on probation.

Barnstable was told that he should have been sentenced for his aid in corrupting Jim Line and Walt Hirsch, two other ex-UK players charged with fixing the point spread of games, but that, because of his war record, the court exercised clemency in his case.

Barnstable received two battle

Tom McKenney Receives Trophy For Citizenship

Awards and medals were presented to 11 UK Army ROTC cadets Monday in a regimental review on the campus parade ground. Air Force ROTC cadets will receive their awards May 17.

The Rotary Club trophy, presented annually to the member of the second year advance course for outstanding citizenship, was awarded to Tom C. McKenney. Selection for this award was made by a secret vote of his classmates.

Other winners and their awards include Armed Forces Communications Association Medal to second-year Signal Corps advanced course student showing outstanding interest and proficiency in communications, John A. Biegerstaff; to the student in first-year advance, Stanley S. Dickson Jr.; and to the student in second-year basic course, Frederick L. Calhoun.

The Signal Corps Association medal to the outstanding second-year student of advanced course who is a World War II veteran, went to John A. Sproule.

In addition, the Reserve Officer Association award went to four students displaying outstanding interest and proficiency in military science, Jack C. Wilhoit, second-year infantry advance course; Robert G. Fulton, first-year infantry advance course; Charles N. Carnes, second-year Signal Corps advance; Arthur K. Liville, first-year Signal Corps advance.

United States Army Association Medal presented to the member of the second-year infantry advance course displaying to the highest degree those qualities and attributes necessary for an officer of the U. S. Army was awarded to Robert L. Carter.

Charles D. Comps received two trophies. He received the ROTC Marksman Trophy, presented to the member of the ROTC rifle team having the highest average in competition during the past year, and the Military Department Trophy, presented to the outstanding member of the first-year basic course.

The Col. George D. Freeman trophy, presented to the company winning the competitive drill, was awarded to Company F, commanded by Myer S. Tullock.

These awards had been made in the past at the annual Field Day program, but this event has been discontinued.

Parties Announce Platforms For SGA Election Wednesday

Both Parties' Key Figures Express Ideas

Two representatives to the Student Government Association and two former representatives will seek the offices of president and vice president of SGA at the spring election, to be held Wednesday.

George Lawson and Henry Neel, present representatives, will run on the United Students ticket for president and vice president. Past representatives Jess Gardner and Pat Patterson will be the Constitutionalist candidates.

Polls will be open from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Wednesday. Arts and Sciences and graduate students may vote in the SUB. Education students may vote in the Education Building, commerce students in White Hall, law students in Lafferty Hall, agriculture students in the Agriculture Building, and engineering students in the Engineering Study Hall.

All candidates for president, vice president, or representative must file applications in the Registrar's Office no later than noon Monday. Candidates must have at least a 1.3 standing before their applications can be accepted.

Close Campaigning Out Election rules specify that campaigning within 15 feet of the polls will not be permitted. Persons attending the ballot boxes will have authority to disqualify any vote. No publicity can be posted on the voting stand.

Lawson, classified as a senior in Arts and Sciences, will graduate in June 1953. His standing is 1.8.

Past president of Sigma Chi Fraternity, Lawson is now vice president of Seaboard and Blade, an SGA representative, and a lieutenant colonel in Air Force ROTC.

He is a member of the Pryor Pre-Medical Society, secretary of Lamp and Cross, a Distinguished Military Student, and a member of the Interfraternity Council.

Lawson worked with Charles "Red" Hale in establishing a lost and found bureau on campus. He introduced the recent Law Day appropriation.

Dr. Weeks Refuses To Accept Demotion

Says, 'They Can Fire Me Or Leave Me Where I Am'

Dr. Martin E. Weeks, head of the Agronomy Department who was replaced last week by the UK Board of Trustees, said this week that he will not accept a change of status.

"They can fire me or leave me where I am," Dr. Weeks said. "Under the circumstances, I can't accept a change of status."

The University Board of Trustees last Friday appointed Dr. Gilbert H. Ahlgren, chairman of the Department of Farm Crops at Rutgers University, as head of the Agronomy Department to be effective July 1. The Board said Dr. Weeks would continue as professor of agronomy, at no reduction in salary.

Dr. Weeks said he was being relieved of his position by the school administration because he refused to go along with promoters of Kentucky Fescue 31, a forage grass for cattle.

W. C. Johnstone and Ralph Kenney, field agents in the Agronomy Department, have been fueding over the fescue for the past 15 years, Dr. Weeks said. Johnstone has promoted it, and Kenney has been critical of it, he said.

Seed Producers Wanted Help "When seed producers got high, a lot of seed producers got interested in fescue and expected help from this department in promoting it," Dr. Weeks said. "These men were extremely reluctant to have anything brought out adverse to fescue."

The agronomist said that Dean Frank J. Welch of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics has been influenced by the fescue group. Dr. H. L. Donovan said it was Welch who recommended to the board of trustees that Dr. Weeks be replaced.

Dr. Donovan's Statement "The Dean of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, the president of the University, and the members of the Board of Trustees were convinced that Prof. Weeks could not restore harmony and good will among some members of his department," the president said. "Therefore, a new head of the department has been selected and charged with the responsibility of achieving this end."

Dr. Weeks said he had not been given a fair trial, and that the action was "absolutely arbitrary, ap- (Continued to Page 6)

Henry Neel Challenges Statement

Platforms of the United Students and Constitutionalist parties were announced this week, and the United Students president challenged a statement by the Constitutionalist publicity manager.

These actions were taken in preparation for Wednesday's Student Government Association election.

Henry Neel, United Students president and the party candidate for vice president of SGA, took issue with a statement made last week by Tom Wilborn, Constitutionalist publicity manager, in which Wilborn said the Constitutionlists have been unable to enact some of the planks on previous platforms.

"To my knowledge, the Constitutionlists have never raised a motion of any sort at any meeting of SGA to help work on a book exchange," Neel stated.

Neel Challenges Statement "Concerning their last year's platform, they have made no motion or brought up any plank of their platform at any SGA meeting," he charged.

Wilborn replied, "I did not mean to misrepresent the Constitutionalist Party. I merely meant to say that there were some planks on the platform which had been on previous platforms that had not been enacted."

"Henry's statement leaves the impression that the Constitutionlists were entirely inactive during the past year. This is erroneous."

"Polly Boteler, secretary of SGA, was elected on our ticket. Jess Gardner, chairman of the SGA Judiciary Committee and an assembly member until the last election, was mainly responsible for the two all-campus dances and for the student directory's publication, Wilborn added."

Four Planks To Platform Four planks comprise the United Students platform for 1952-53. They are:

1. To continue the campus book exchange investigation.

"Contrary to previous rumors, the United Students Party has not given up on the book exchange idea," Pete Carter, a member of the party's platform committee, explained this week.

Carter said his party would propose that SGA work through a committee recently formed to study student morale.

"I believe we can obtain Dr. Donovan's consent to the exchange if we work through this committee," Carter said.

To Revise SGA Constitution 2. To seek revision of the SGA constitution.

The present constitution causes the presentation of the SGA budget to be delayed until a late date, Carter pointed out. This makes it difficult for other organizations to plan their budgets because of their reliance on SGA for money, he said.

Under a revised constitution, the budget could be required at an earlier date, Carter said.

3. To operate the student placement bureau.

The present employment secretary will soon retire, Carter said. The United Students hope to have SGA take over this function, now handled by the YMCA. They hope to extend SGA's power by this move.

4. To try to get the SUB Music Room opened for student use.

"We considered several other points, such as a student bank, attempts to have the Botanical Garden sidewalks improved, and attempts to have a campus parking lot for students," Carter stated. "We did not adopt them because we do not feel them within the scope of SGA power. They sound good but would not likely be approved. We have tried to adopt planks which we will be able to put through."

$33,000 Organ To Be Dedicated On Tuesday Night

UK's new $33,000 pipe organ, recently installed in Memorial Hall, will be dedicated at an organ recital at 8 p. m. Tuesday.

Arthur Poister, professor of organ at Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y., will present the dedicatory recital which will be open to the public.

New Budget Smaller Than Present Costs

A UK budget calling for the expenditure of $7,676,157 in 1952-53, about $5000 less than is being spent during the present fiscal year, was approved by the Board of Trustees by 44 full time positions and 55 part time positions.

"In addition," he continued, "several leaves of absence have been arranged for, and the assignments of between 10 and 15 people have been reduced from twelve months to ten months."

"I informed the deans at the time they were making up the budget that whatever savings they could make by reducing staff could be expended in salary increases, which are very much needed if we are to hold many of our best men and women on the faculty."

Increases Made On Merit "You will find, upon examination of this budget, that a number of small increases have been made purely on merit basis. No across-the-board increase was possible with the amount of money we had available. Many employees who did not get increases may have merited some increase but there simply was not enough money available to provide an increase for everyone."

Staff Reduced By 99 "I am aware that they made a conscientious effort to do this. When a vacancy occurred, wherever it was possible we closed ranks and did not employ a new staff member. By taking advantage of retirements and resignations of personnel to accept other positions, we have been able to reduce the staff of the University by 44 full time positions and 55 part time positions."

The expenditure for next year, President H. L. Donovan said, will be approximately the same as is now being spent. This will be made possible because of a $646,738 increase in funds from the General Assembly, a $5 hike in student fees, and a balance of $466,931 from this year's income.

The total of these sums will offset the million dollars the University had anticipated losing as a result of the decline in the enrollment of veterans at UK, Dr. Donovan said.

"In the preparation of this budget," he added, "I instructed the deans and the heads of departments to reduce as far as it was possible the number of employees in their colleges and departments."

Students, Faculty Give Demonstrations

A jet engine, a wind tunnel, a cyclone thickener, and a fatigue testing machine are some of the features to be shown at the Engineers' Day open house today.

A tour of all phases of the Engineering College will be held at 1 p. m. in the study hall of Anderson Hall. A second tour will be conducted from 7 to 9:30 p. m.

The open house, an annual affair of the Engineering College, is sponsored by the Engineering Student Council and is designed to acquaint the students and public with the activities of the college.

Tour of Laboratories Scheduled The tour includes a trip through the following laboratories: Foundry and Metallurgical, Aeronautical Research, Electrical Power, Mining, Communications, X-ray, Mechanical, Civil Testing, and the Highway Materials Research.

In addition, visitors will tour the machine shop, drawing room, pattern shop, and will see demonstrations in applied mechanics.

The faculty and students have demonstrations planned in all of the laboratories and shops.

Some of the features of the Foundry and Metallurgical laboratory will be forging hammers, a "Lectromelt" furnace, out of which will be poured molten metal, heat treating furnaces, and metal saws.

The Mechanical laboratory will demonstrate a wind tunnel, a heat pump, and a steam engine.

Remote control appliances, high frequency heating, and a liquid electric motor are presented by the Electrical Power laboratory.

Equipment, such as jaw crushers, bucket elevators, and magnetic separators will be shown in the Mining laboratory.

An electronic side show can be seen in the communications lab.

In Aeronautical Research there will be a dynamometer test of an automotive engine, a jet engine in a test cell, and a large aircraft engine in a test cell.

Highway materials and testing will be presented in the Highway Research laboratory.

Refreshments will be served between tours in the main study room of Anderson Hall.

'State Of The Union' Changed For Guignol Theater Production

By Dolly Sullivan

The "State of the Union" may not be the same next week as it is today. That's because the Guignol Theater's next production, which opens Monday night for a six-day run, will have dialogue changes made in line with current political situations right up to certain time.

The play is a story of political intrigue. A group of men plan to put up a presidential candidate they expect to be able to control. But this businessman-candidate has to clean up his own affairs before making the race, because he and his wife must present a picture of happy married life, although there is "another woman."

A crisis comes when his wife refuses to stay in line with the politicians trying to control him.

A Lindsay-Crouse Comedy Howard Lindsay and Russell Crouse's satirical three-act comedy on politics will be a three-set production, the first such staging done by Guignol in many years. Among students working on staging are Meg Bailey, assistant technical director; James L. Read Jr., stage manager and electrician; Barbara Francis, assistant electrician; and Arden Milam, set design.

Leading roles will be taken by Kenneth Scott, playing Grant Matthews, the presidential candidate; Mrs. Hugo Bloomfield, Mary Matthews; Florence Scott, Kay Thorn-dyke; Frank Johnson, Spike MacManus; and Stophor Ringo, James Conover. In supporting roles will be Claude Trapp, as Judge Jefferson Davis Alexander, and Maxine Perkins, as Mrs. Alexander.

Wallace N. Briggs is producing director, Lolo Robinson is associate director, and Ernest L. Rhodes is technical director.

Production Staff Listed Bcttye Deen Stull is assistant director. Ruth Bishop will be prompter. Mac Wood is in charge of music, and Ed Fallon will supervise the house. Florence Beckstedt will handle properties, assisted by Anne Hall and Don Clayton. Dave Bere has done the program advertising.

University Didn't Get Off As Easy As Former Players

Students Asked Not To Vote

In the midst of the "get-out-the-vote" campaigning that is going on this week in anticipation of Wednesday's SGA elections, we want to request you not to vote.

No, don't vote Wednesday if you haven't taken time to read and analyze the platforms of the two parties, as to the actual possibilities of putting the various planks into effect as well as to their worth to the students.

Don't cast your vote for any candidate unless you have studied his qualifications and opinions and compared them to those of his opponent.

Don't waste a ballot, either, if you don't know what the two parties have done in the past in regard to fulfilling their campaign promises and really working for a stronger SGA.

Don't use any of your study, or even grill, time for voting purposes, if you plan to vote as you have been, previously instructed by the leaders of an organization to which you belong. There is not much use in voting if you plan to cast your vote just because you aren't a member of a certain organization, either.

Don't bother to go to the polls if it doesn't make any difference to you if the University has a student operated bookstore, an effective teacher rating program, or efficient parking regulations. Or if you a great measure deserved. As we have said before, the real blame for the cage scandals lies with those who have caused the winning of games to be over-emphasized, rather than with the players themselves.

On the other side of the ledger, it is heartening to see University officials commended by Judge Streit for their cooperation with the New York Grand Jury in its investigation. This indicates a willingness on the part of the University to clear up the situation which we hope to see followed-up with concrete action on such matters as increased emphasis on intramural sports and the adoption of stricter rules regarding athletic scholarships.

It is impossible at this time to make any judgment on the remarks made by Judge Streit concerning Coach Adolph Rupp. Coach Rupp has not yet presented his side of the case to the public and until such time we do not believe any valid judgment can be made. We do think, however, that the Athletic Board owes Coach Rupp a hearing so that he will have an opportunity to answer the charges brought against him and to present his case to the public. For the good of the University we recommend that this action be taken at the next meeting of the Board.

We also recommend that they give thorough consideration to the judge's suggestion that colleges adopt the program recently suggested by the American Council of Education. The Board can do nothing to alter what has already happened, but should direct all its efforts toward preventing the recurrence of such unpleasant and unhealthy outgrowths of the athletic program.

believe that these things should not be handled by students, don't vote.

And particularly, if you don't really care whether or not UK students have the right to govern themselves—don't vote.

Facts And Figures About Those Who 'Went To College' Fill Book

They Went To College—Harcourt, Brace and Company, 1952

Of all unmarried women, 13 out of 100 are non-college women, whereas 31 out of 100 are college women. College grads not only make more money than non-grads, but they are younger at the peak of their success. College grads stay married longer than non-grads. More and more women are beginning to enter colleges, to the distrust of their parents, who believe they are wasting four years of time and money to get married.

Such are the statistics found in They Went To College, based on a survey made by Time Magazine and written by Ernest Havemann and Patricia West. For the first time, a book of statistics has been published which accurately and unbiasedly answers many of the questions college students frequently ask themselves, such as "Is college really worthwhile?"

Judging from statistics, it is. More college grads than non-grads are successful. They make more money, hold better jobs, and gain more prestige than non-grads. Only one-half of 1 percent of all college grads are unemployed, and very few do manual labor.

According to They Went To College, financial rewards differ by occupation. Ranked in terms of the highest paying fields are medicine, law, dentistry, business, government, science, education, and clergy.

Of special interest to the coed are the figures concerning the number of married and non-married grads. Several generations ago a great many people believed, in all sincerity, that "undue mental strain" would cause women to have "brain fever"— a disease which was once very popular even though defying diagnosis.

Others, who were unable to picture women doing anything other than being a housewife and a mother, felt that higher education was a complete waste of time and effort. A third group was afraid that women would be "de-sexed," that is, rendered unfit or unwilling for marriage and motherhood.

Now the worries revolve around two things: the girls will either spend four years of Dad's hard-earned money and then get married, or, even worse, remain spinsters.

Frightening as this may be to some of the campus women, the chances of a coed remaining a spinster are well borne out by the figures. There are more spinsters with college degrees than without them. "It may be that college women are simply too choosy to compete successfully in the competition for husbands." Another possible explanation is that women in college become too interested in knowledge (the survey did not cover the UK campus) and careers to consider the burdensome role of the housewife and mother.

There is something of interest to every student in They Went To College. The statistics are presented with accuracy and without any editorializing on the part of the authors, although some speculation and theorizing does creep in a few of the more controversial issues. To some, the book will be a rude awakener, while to others it will give hope and encouragement. Perhaps the best thing that can be said for the book is that it at least partially does away with the uncertainties and fears held by many conscientious students.

The Knapsack by Paul Knapp

Jump, Hop, Springs Win Gal Back In Good Old Days

Back in the good old days when women grew on trees, a certain young man approached one of the said trees and began to scrutinize the fruit thereof quite intently.

The young man finally decided upon one particularly delightful specimen of femininity. But then he looked up and said sadly to himself that the distance was surely beyond his reach. And so he walked on dejectedly until he met his friend.

The friend, noting the despondency of his acquaintance, placed a consoling hand on the other's shoulder and asked him of his troubles.

To which the sad one replied that he had finally found the only girl that would ever make him an ideal companion for life, but then he had seen that the height was just too much for his reach. Without a single attempt he had given up, for fear that he might be embarrassed if someone should happen to see him making a fool of himself over a woman.

The consoling friend asked if he might be directed to the tree upon which such a queen was perched. The meek and dejected one pointed the way.

When the second man came to the spot of the tree he immediately picked the same captivating belle of the branches. He realized that it would not help his friend any, but would surely help himself if he might obtain this girl for his own.

He looked the matter over carefully. It was quite a distance, but it was worth a try anyway for such a prize as this.

But when he attempted to release her from her lofty perch on the leafy bough, he found that the distance was more than his arms were able to cope with.

After many a futile jump, hop, spring, and leap he gave up and walked off also dejected, but with the consolation that he at least tried.

Later on he met another one of his comrades and told him that the tender slender young lady was really not worth all the trouble. She really would be a poor conversationalist, terrible dancer, and could probably not even begin to hold her own in any decent competition.

The friend listened to this tale and began to give it serious thought. This led to the friend arriving at a set conclusion—his dear friend was just trying to excuse his own inability to capture the tempting morsel.

So he, too, made sure to visit this select tree.

And like the others he was attracted by this one lady-fair. Being a rather cocky individual he decided that the loss of his blessed bachelorhood was fair trade for being able to show up his two other close friends by securing this tantalizing maiden for his wife.

With all his might he catapulted into the air and grasped his prize by the foot. She fell lightly into his arms and they were married that day.

A few weeks later the winner of the lass with the queenly visage was walking dejectedly along the road when he happened to meet the meek young man who had first noticed the comely wench when she was just a twig on the old tree.

The meek fellow placed his consoling hand on the other's shoulder and asked him of his troubles. The victor then gave out with the sad tale of woe. He admitted that he was now married to the beautiful girl who had won the admiration of the three of them when she was away up on the limb above them.

After a slight pause in which he swabbed the tears from his eyes and blew his nose profusely, he continued, "But now, only too late, have I found out that there are only three phrases in her vocabulary, 'yes,' 'no,' and 'oh, really!'"

"And when it comes to dancing—may it never come again—she insists that it is my husbandly duty to keep my feet out from under her's."

"But there's one thing I'm thankful of. She at least has good looks enough to keep her in the running for all the beauty contests. This will at least keep her from driving me crazy until I'm too old to give a damn."

This Is No Joke; We've Been Beset By Flying Saucers

By NORMAN CORDELL

The Kernel has decided to appoint Bonnie Butler as science editor, since he never does anything constructive except discuss the anthropological differences between the ape and the news editor of a certain UK campus weekly, anyhow. So we decided to put him to work one way or another.

But this week, the little runt has really found a story. It snacks of science fiction, but honest to goodness it's the truth.

At 9 p.m. Sunday, Dr. Thomas W. Clark, head of the History Department, was leaving the room of his son, who was getting ready for bed.

Suddenly the boy noticed a brilliant white object shining through his bedroom window. He called out to his father, who immediately went to get a pair of field glasses.

He trained the glasses on the object, which was about 1000 yards above the horizon, and saw a "bright light, moving about in a darting, erratic motion."

The object was shooting about very rapidly, sometimes pausing, then flying off at tangents. The object, according to Dr. Clark, "had a red core which moved about in an envelope of white light. Sometimes the core would move to the periphery of the white, glowing envelope and then retreat to the center again."

"Then another light, a green one, began moving about in relation to the red one, occasionally falling into parallel lines with it. An airplane came over and I observed it very closely to see if I could see any similarity between the two objects."

"As far as I know, there is absolutely no similarity between what I saw and any known type of aircraft. It was not a balloon. It moved too rapidly."

Later in the evening, at 11:15 p.m., Donald Clayton Rose, instructor of astronomy, was driving east toward Lexington on Leestown Pike. Suddenly a bright, "emerald green" fireball fell from the west, zooming toward a clump of trees at a 10 degree angle, vertically.

"Although the total time of observation was only a half second," he continued, "I saw enough to see that it was composed of a central core surrounded by a green, glowing light."

Rose went on to say that the fireball emitted enough light to cast shadows from the trees alongside the road.

Now, maybe you think we are kidding, but this is the real story of what happened, according to Butler.

He says that although no astronomer of repute has made any definite statement concerning the unidentified craft, there are many persons, including the Army, who think that they are alien as far as their origin is concerned. In other words, they are out of this world.

Not too long ago, Butler claims, an army pilot was killed while giving chase to one of the mysterious objects. Weather balloons, as some people seem to think the objects are, cannot travel that fast, and other observers, when checking with local air lanes, found that no flights were scheduled for the areas concerned when they sighted the strange craft.

The green fireballs are even harder to explain, for there is no category in which they can be placed. Their origin, as well as their purpose, is unknown, although someone has already proposed that they might be electrical "fraks," caused by the A-bomb tests in New Mexico.

Only three or four authentic photographs have ever been taken of the "saucers," and the only thing they indicate is that whatever they are, they weren't made by any nation on earth. So says Bonnie Butler, Boy Wonder.

Personally, we don't know what the things are, but we bet Judge Streit will expose them.

UK Will Be Lonely Saturday As Students Heads For Derby

That mass onslaught on the roads to Louisville Saturday morn'g will be mistaken for an evacuation of UK.

It will just be all those lucky souls who can afford to eat a hot dog at Churchill Downs Saturday accompanied by the patter of hooves somewhere on the other side of that big crowd.

The Phi Delta's hope to get everyone in the Derby spirit with their big formal tonight at Boiling Springs. The dance will also celebrate their Golden Anniversary.

Also helping to usher in Derby Eve will be the Teks who have planned their Carnation Ball for tonight. The Blue and White orchestra will play for the dance to be held in the Lafayette Gold Room. The "Sweetheart of TKE" will be presented during the evening along with the Best Pledge and the Best Active.

Fraternity Sweethearts Chosen Speaking of fraternity sweethearts, last week-end Beth Deen was crowned "Sweetheart of Kappa Sigma" and Betty Hart was the Phi Tau "Dream Girl." Although the Phi Tau's choose a "Dream Girl" every year, the Kappa Sig's chose their "Sweetheart" for the first time at UK. They plan to make this an annual award, however.

Musn't forget the Kappa's big formal tonight at the Lexington Country Club. This is their annual Spring dance.

The KA's have decided they will discuss the big race tomorrow while enjoying the cool breezes down at Clifton. It seems they have planned a big river party tonight for the express purpose of picking the winner of the Derby.

Looks like there are quite a few of us poor people who can't afford that Derby hot dog tomorrow since there are many beach and house parties planned for tomorrow. The Farm House boys will be taking their date to Natural Bridge for a party, while the Phi Sig's, Sigma Nu's and the ZTA's will be heading for the river.

Guignol To Have Play

The Guignol spring production will open Monday night in the Guignol Theater. From all advance reports this should be another smash hit for Wally Briggs and his proteges.

Even though the KA's don't believe in listening to the girls when they come serenading, we do hope that some of the girls will manage to open at least one ear when the KA's come serenading next week. After all, it's warm weather now and most of those windows will be open so you can't miss hearing them.

Rumor has it that one of the campus political parties has something spectacular planned for election eve. Quit it now, the suspense is killing me.

Folk Dance Scheduled

Everyone is invited to the big open house sponsored by the Lexington Folk Dance Center May 16 in Clifton. Members will demonstrate different folk dances.

Paul Wright was recently installed as the new president of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity. Other officers installed include Art Jacob, vice president; Larry Meyer, secretary; Al Lupinetti, treasurer; John Cox, historian; Stanley Collis, sergeant-at-arms; Bill Mullins, chaplain; and Bob Felton, pledge master. The chapter also held initiation services and initiated Johnny Meiners, Don Butler, Hubert Williams, and L. B. Powers. Two associate members, Rev. Thomas Cowan and Dr. Kent Mosely, were also initiated.

Senior Places Third In Oratorical Contest

Paul Saad, UK senior, placed third in the 77th National Oratorical Contest at Northwestern University last weekend.

Saad received a bronze medal and $10 in cash. Judges were seven professors of speech in the School of Speech at Northwestern.

The student won the right to participate in the contest by defeating representatives from four other Kentucky colleges.

Saad was defeated by a German exchange student from Goshen College in Indiana who won first place honors. A Dutch exchange student from Central College, Iowa, took second place.

Miss Virginia Goebel who represented the state of Kentucky in the women's division was eliminated in the Eastern division.

Druggist Says Soda Fountain Builds Trade

Joseph J. Shrine, editor of the Central Pharmaceutical Journal and owner of a Chicago drug store, was the guest speaker at a session of the Drugstore Management Class recently.

Mr. Shrine, a strong advocate of modern soda fountain operation, gave statistics which backed up his point that the soda fountain is "the great traffic builder" of modern drug stores. He reminded future pharmacists that "the soda was born in the drug store."

Mr. Shrine stated that the soda fountain-customer is seated for about 11 minutes, and that during that time the druggist has time to become acquainted with his customer. He stated that drug stores with soda fountains did $40,000 more business than those without, on an average.

Eight Groups Vie For Sing Honors

Kappa Delta and Delta Tau Delta won their respective divisions last year.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 40...
THE WHALE

Poor guy was submerged in a veritable sea of cigarette tests! He didn't know whether he should "blow"—or just jettison the whole job! But he fathomed the matter when he suddenly realized that cigarette mildness can't be judged in one quick spout! Millions of smokers have found, too, there's a thorough cigarette test!

It's the sensible test... the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke — on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments! Once you've tried Camels in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

After all the Mildness Tests...

Cats Split With Alabama As Neff Hurls 9-6 Win

Five Runs Scored In Sixth Inning To Decide Contest

The UK baseball team, with a trio of hurlers allowing only two hits, evened the series with Alabama with a 9-6 victory Tuesday.

Gene Neff pitched carefully and maverically for seven innings but a streak of wildness and an error loaded the bases in the eighth after the first two batters had struck out. The bases were loaded when left fielder Jim Walker unloaded an inside the park homer to put the Crimson Tide back into the game.

Neff was replaced after Walker's wallop in the eighth by Don Sullivan who pitched to two batters before giving way to relief artist Herb Hunt. Hunt finished the game, Neff was the winner.

Willard and Keller each had two hits and two runs. H. Jones also crossed home twice.

Cats Meet Vols At Knoxville

Gruner To Pitch First Game; Neff Or Day Tomorrow

Coach Harry Lancaster and the Wildcat baseball team left Lexington at 7 o'clock this morning for Knoxville. Traveling in four cars, the 15-man squad will arrive in Knoxville about noon and will meet the Volunteers in the first of a two game series this afternoon.

The second game will be played tomorrow. The likely starting pitcher for the Cats will be Bunky Gruner. Gruner developed a blister on his pitching hand in the first Alabama game but it responded well to treatment and Lancaster believes he will be ready to face the defending South-eastern Conference champions today.

Lancaster was undecided as to the starting hurler for tomorrow's game but it is likely either Gene Neff or Jim Day will get the call. Day looked good in his first starting role against Fort Knox but the more experienced Neff will probably get the nod for the important game.

The UK coach said he expects Tennessee to field a team as strong as that which won the championship last year. He pointed out the only serious loss to the team was the graduation of the regular first baseman.

Going into the series the Cats have a five-win, four-loss record in conference play.

Netmen Down Xavier But Lose To Cincy In Lop-Sided Score

UK's netters broke even in two games played Saturday and Monday afternoons. Coach H. H. Downing's crew defeated Xavier 8-1, but lost to the University of Cincinnati's strong team 9-0.

In the game with Xavier, UK swept the singles matches in straight sets, and took two out of three doubles matches. The lone loss came when Dwyer and Discepoli defeated Bob Scherer and Harry Alexander of UK, 7-5, 6-4.

In the game Monday afternoon, UK extended UC's crew to three sets in four matches and made duces sets out of three they lost, but couldn't come up with a point. Cincinnati was paced by Bud Igel, their number one man, who last year teamed up with Tony Trabert to take the runner-up position in the National Intercollegiate doubles.

Bud Igel (C) defeated Monty Price 6-0, 6-1.

Carl Gross (C) defeated Bob Waggoner 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

Bob Quiley (C) defeated Bill Evans 6-1, 5-7, 6-3.

Jerry Gilbert (C) defeated Bob Scherer 3-6, 6-2, 6-2.

Don Pilot (C) defeated Harry Alexander 6-0, 6-0.

Igel-Gross defeated Waggoner-Evans 9-7, 6-2.

Quiley-Mault (C) defeated Price-Koper 6-3, 7-5.

Gilbert-Pilot defeated Rodman-Alexander 6-0, 6-0.

Monty Price (C) defeated Frank Mountell 6-2, 6-3.

Bob Waggoner (K) defeated Frank Mountell 6-1, 6-1.

Ed Rodman (K) defeated Ron Discepoli 6-4, 6-1.

Bob Williams (K) defeated Milostan-Mountell 6-0, 6-2.

Price-Koper (K) defeated Trivino-Breitbach 6-3, 6-2.

Dwyer-Discepoli (C) defeated Bob Scherer and Harry Alexander 7-5, 6-4.

Fencing Team Ends Season With 11-6 Loss To Louisville

The UK fencing team closed its season with a 11-6 defeat at the hands of the University of Louisville.

The Cat foil team scored only one win as it fell 8-1; the epee team made the best showing as it won 3-1; the sabre team broke even at 2-2. Bob O'Nan, fencing his last collegiate match, kept the Cats in the game with three wins; Tom Prather, Bob Dodson, and Bill Seiler added one each.

The swordsmen compiled a 2-7 season record for the worst season since a team was founded at the University. Coach Breckinridge places the blame on the large number of experienced men declared ineligible. Only two experienced boys were left on the squad.

Coach Breckinridge expects the boys to correct their record next year as only one boy graduates. The progress of the beginners was good and next year they should be ready to form a winning team.

O'Nan Completes Career

The one graduating senior, Bob O'Nan, has completed three years of varsity fencing, won two varsity letters, and represented the University at the NCAA tourney in epee for two years. This year O'Nan was the second highest scorer of the team and turned in the outstanding performance for the Cat team at the NCAA.

Golfers Snap Losing Ways; Defeat Cincy

Five Cat Linksmen Playing For Crown In Southern Meet

Coach John Owens' Wildcat golfers snapped their five match losing streak Monday as they edged by Cincinnati 16-11 at Boiling Springs.

Jack Kloecker and Art Stoll, playing in the last foursome, brought home the winning points as they swept the foursome 9-0 from Sears and Nickerson of Cincinnati. Kloecker had the low medal round of the day with a one-over-par 73 while Stoll fired a 76.

The Wildcats were behind in the first two foursomes as Riddle and Crabtree, playing No. 1 and 2, won their foursome 5-4 and Smith and Hardy lost 7-2. Riddle and Crabtree both fired 78 as Crabtree won and Riddle lost in the singles and the best ball match was halved.

Smith and Hardy, led by Hardy's 3-under-par 33 on the last nine, made a comeback to garner two points. Smith blew to an 81, his worst round of the spring, in losing to Rhein of Cincinnati. Hardy won the last nine from Kruse of Cincinnati and Kentucky won low ball to win the two points.

Vandy Averages Loss

The Kentucky linksmen had previously lost their fifth match in a row last Friday 21-6 to the Vanderbilt Commodores at Nashville as the Vandy linksmen avenged an earlier loss.

In the second foursome Crabtree and Hardy lost to Wylie and Herrick of Vanderbilt, 5-4. Crabtree had an 80 and Hardy 78.

Five of Coach Owens' golfers left earlier this week for Athens, Georgia where they are participating in the Southern Inter-Collegiate Tournament and the SEC championship. Ches Riddle, Don Smith, Art Stoll, Charlie Crabtree and Jack Kloecker made the trip for the Wildcats.

Relief Pitcher Herb Hunt Was Charged With His First Loss of the Year Monday as the Crimson Tide from Alabama downed the Wildcats 3-2 on Stoll field.

A triple by Ciel Hobson was the winning blow for Alabama as he chased Tony Napoli across the plate with the deciding run. The Tide trailed 2-1 going into the ninth inning when Hunt came in to relieve starter Bunky Gruner. He was greeted by a single by Jerry Watford. Watford stole second and scored on two infield outs to tie things up.

UK Takes Lead In Eighth

Kentucky took the lead in the eighth on singles by Miles Willard, Charlie Keller, Larry Jones, and a balk by the Alabama hurler. Willard scored from third on the balk.

In the bottom of the ninth Gene Neff led off with a single and reached third on the hit when the leftfielder let the ball roll through his legs. Hunt went down on strikes, and Coach Harry Lancaster sent Carter Hamilton to the plate with orders to try a squeeze play and score Neff from third. The strategy backfired when Hamilton missed the pitch and Neff was thrown out at the home plate. Hamilton grounded out for the last out in the ninth. Alabama went on to win the contest in the tenth inning.

Gruner Retires With Blister

Gruner and Alabama's starting pitcher, Gene Lary, pitched a tight ball over the first seven innings. Gruner developed a blister on his finger in the eighth, walked two men, gave up an infield single, and allowed one run on a long fly ball to the outfield.

Softball Leagues Tied In Intermural Picture

Seven fraternity teams and three independent outfits remained undefeated through Wednesday night's softball games, with the pennant races in every one of the intramural leagues, except the non-Greeks, being tied.

However, the games scheduled last night have scrambled the standings in every league, and in two instances, pitted first-place teams in contests set to break the league tie-ups.

In Fraternity Division Two, Phi Kappa Alpha was scheduled against Phi Kappa Tau last night. Sigma Chi, which shares the lead with the other two teams, drew once-beaten Sigma Alpha Epsilon. The Pi Kaps, Phi Taus, and Sigma Chi's all had won one game, and lost none.

Meanwhile, in the Independent League, Scott Street Barracks was slated to challenge Baptist Student Union, two-time victors who are currently ahead in the standings. Scott Street was also undefeated, with a single win to its credit.

The only games scheduled for today are Independent tussles, pitting the Careless Hands against the Copy Cats, and the Turtles against Scott Street. Should Scott Street have beaten BSU last night, today's game would match the two top non-Greek teams.

Delta Tau Delta and Alpha Gamma Rho who will lock horns on Monday in the feature attraction of the evening. Both squads boast one win and no losses at present. Sigma Phi Epsilon is set for a busy time, if its team plays both games scheduled for Monday. The Sig Eps play Sigma Nu at 4 p.m., and after supper will meet unbeaten Phi Delta Theta at 8 p.m. Other games match Newman Club and Scott Street at 5 o'clock, and Men's Dorms and Turtles at 6 p.m.

Alpha Gamma Rho Takes Championship From World Walkers

Alpha Gamma Rho, champions of the Fraternity Intra-Mural Basketball League, defeated the Independent World Walkers champions to cop the campus intra-mural championship.

Doug Ridley led his mates to a 40-34 victory over the World Walkers just five days after ATP downed the Sigma Phi Epsilon team 42-34 to annex the Fraternity Championship. Ridley scored 20 points for high point honors in the contest.

Other members of the championship team are: Glenn McCormack, Bowen McKenney, Jack Wise, Joe Turpin, Herb Brown, Warren Knight, Jack Hiatt, Tony Coganough, and Joe Peden. The successful team was coached by Bill Hendrick.

Wiley Breaks School Record In Two-Mile

By Arky Meyer

Bill Valleau and Skippy Whitaker combined talents to lead the UK track squad to a 67-55 win over Marshall last Saturday in Huntington.

Valleau collected wins in both the hurdle events to gain a total of 10 points. The versatile Whitaker wasn't content with participating in the high jump and the broad jump (there was no javelin competition), so he entered the 100 yard dash and placed third.

Crances are he could have won that too if the generally conceded poor start had been run over. In gaining a first in the high jump with a jump of 6'2", he tied the UK record set by Hammond in 1928. The win in the broad jump gave him 11 points and second high for the day.

Wiley Sets School Record

The best time turned in in the distance events was the record breaking 10:00.6 by Al Wiley in the two mile run. The previous school record was set by Dave Rogan in 1936.

One other high spot of the day was Kentucky's dominance over Marshall's distance man, Canterbury, who had a record of 23 straight wins before Saturday's meet. First, Jay Wallace came through in the stretch to beat him in the 880 run. To prove that it wasn't a fluke win, Speedie Price soundly trounced him in the mile run. This wasn't the last defeat as Doug Adamson came on to beat him in the first leg of the mile relay which Kentucky won.

High point man for the day for both teams was Marshall's Garland Barnhart. Barnhart was the big gun with a first place and three second places to edge Skippy Whitaker with 13 points. Another two event winner was Marshall's Mary Meridith with firsts in the 100 and 220 dashes.

The next meet will be held tomorrow in Knoxville with the University of Tennessee. Two big men in particular face the Wildcats in this match. They are the high jumper, Herb Neff, who set the SEC record last year with a jump of

LET ME AT IT. That's what it looks like Larry Jones might be saying to Alabama catcher Nick Nicola after he missed a third strike in the first inning of Tuesday's game. Charlie Keller had just walked and the catcher was ready for an attempted pick-off when Jones went into a dance of disgust. Jones is currently one of the leading hitters on the UK team. The Cats won the game, 9-6. The umpire is John Showalter.

Roger Layne Has Good Pro Year Others Express Favor Toward Alumni-Varsity Football Game;

All comment concerning the Alumni-Varsity spring football game reported in the Kernel last week seems to be favorable. Babe Parilli, the best known name in Kentucky football history, threw his helmet in with the "old timers" and said he would like to participate in the game. A return of the Babe would practically insure a packed house.

Frank Seale, one time center on the Wildcat team, informed he is beyond the age for actual play but that he would like to work toward the promotion of the game. He suggested get together of each squad over the years for dinners prior to the game and the attendance in mass of those teams. Sounds like a good thing.

Other comments have been heard. Bill Brown, equipment manager, was right when he said, "Talk about color. You would really have it in that game. Kentucky football has grown so rapidly in the past few years there are plenty of players available for the game. If all those fellows play who have said they would, that would be quite a line up."

The motion for such a game has drawn more momentum than was anticipated at this time of year. Ordinarily football is given little thought when baseball is swinging into form and even mention of a pigskin in May is unusual. The discussion of the game now can be taken as an indication of the popularity of the idea.

Gain's Game. Bob Gain, perhaps the most publicized lineman in the history of UK football, said he favors a yearly get together of former players but he believes arrangements are needed to insure against injuries. "I'd like to play but I wouldn't want to take a chance of losing out on a year of pro ball. I wouldn't be in the best of shape at that time and I wouldn't want to go too long at a spell. If we can get a big squad and let everybody play the same lengths of time, I'm for it."

Gain, recently signed by the Cleveland Browns, said he enjoyed playing in the Canadian pro league last year and probably would have returned if the draft board would have oked his trip out of the country. Green Bay originally drafted the former All-American but their terms did not reach Gain's expectations. He jumped to the Canadian league and signed with Cleveland after the Browns obtained rights to him.

It Wasn't Pay—Just Support. At the baseball game Monday, Coach Adolph Rupp came out of the stands and handed a quarter into a group of players on the Kentucky bench. Remarks in the stands recorded wonderment as to why the Baron would be passing out money. One dopester suggested it was subsistence for the basketball players on the team.

What some of the fans didn't realize was that number 00 was Herky Rupp, the Baron's son. Herky is the Cat's batboy and Rupp was just telling him he could buy a coke and a candy bar.

Herky's first love is basketball, as was demonstrated in the half-time games during the past season, but he is also a baseball enthusiast.

Under The Wire. Complaints were heard from some quarters that Doc Wahl, ardent softball manager, did not enter his team in the intramural league before the deadline. Intra-mural Director Bill McCubbin clarified the situation when he disclosed the entrance blanks had been pushed under his door while he was out.

Doc's team is legitimate and it looks like the team to beat at this stage. A group of football players did not enter in time and were disqualified and Doc has signed some of the better prospects. He has a well balanced club and his interest in the management of the team can not be overlooked.

A Line On Layne. The old cowboy, Roger Layne, ambled back into town this week after a successful season with Wilkes-Barre, Pa., in the American Basketball League. Layne resigned from an Illinois high school coaching job in December and reported to the professional club for a try-out early in the year.

He was signed to the eight-man squad and averaged about 10 points per game for the season. He said he has accepted a summer job in Alaska as a pipe-fitter to keep in shape for basketball. He intends to return to Wilkes-Barre next season.

Wildcats Lose To Tankers After Holding Early Lead

Lancaster Finds Another Starter In Freshman Day

Fort Knox visited Stoll field last Saturday and handed the UK nine its fourth loss of the season. In a closely played game, which featured good pitching and good fielding by both teams, the Tankers scored three runs in the ninth inning to down Kentucky 5-3.

Starter Jim Day allowed the Soldiers only two runs over the first eight frames, but three hits, a sacrifice, and an error gave the Tankers the victory in the ninth. Kentucky was unable to come back in the bottom of the ninth.

Fort Knox, sporting 13 wins and only one loss, grabbed an early lead by scoring a run in the first inning on three base hits. In the third the Tankers tallied again on two hits to take a brief 2-0 lead over the Cats. However, Frank Ramsey's triple in the bottom of the third, scoring Day and Charley Keller, evened the count at 2-2.

Day held the Soldiers scoreless over the next five innings while his mates added a run in the seventh to take a 3-2 lead over the visitors. With two out, Larry Jones singled, Keller singled, moving Jones to second base. A wild throw moved the Kentucky shortstop over to third, with Ramsey at the plate.

Ramsey swung hard at the second pitch, managed to get a piece of the ball, and hit a little trickier down the third base line. Jones scored on the infield single, putting the Wildcats ahead 3-2.

The Cats lost their punch after the seventh and the Tankers went on to win the contest. Pitcher Hal Valentine was the winning pitcher for the Tankers while Day was charged with the loss.

Kentucky looked better in their fielding Saturday than at any other time this season, as they executed two double-plays and committed only one error. Miles Willard was charged with the error, but made several sparkling plays and figured in both double-plays for the Cats.

Gene Neff bothered the Tanker batters with some terrific fielding in center. On two occasions, balls that were tagged as hits were cut off by the driving Neff. Ramsey and Keller led the Wildcat attack with two hits each. Ramsey drove in all of Kentucky's runs.

Fans that witnessed the game agree that it was the best contest of the year for Lancaster's squad. In view of the fact that the majority of the Soldiers were at one time pro players, the effort on the part of Kentucky was particularly pleasing to Lancaster.

Score by innings: Fort Knox 101 000 000-3 9 2 Kentucky 002 000 100-3 6 1 Batteries: Fort Knox: Valentine and Jadow. Kentucky: Day and Anderson.

Coach Seaton Double-Times To Keep Trackmen On Run

By Larry Meyer

One of the busiest men on the campus is Dr. Don Cash Seaton, head of the Department of Physical Education.

Seaton divides his time between administrative duties and coaching chores with the track team. These two jobs literally keep him on the run throughout the day.

Dr. Seaton was born in Canton, Illinois but now calls El Paso, Ill. his home. This season is his fifth at the University and up to date has been exceptionally successful despite complications brought by lack of school support. In the five years, his record is a good one. His teams have suffered only six losses. During this period he developed an undefeated track squad in 1947 and an undefeated cross country team last fall. His pre-UK record is even more outstanding.

Seaton attended the University of Illinois and was an all around "track man" with the hurdles his specialty. After graduation, he went to Pontiac, Ill. and Senn High School in Chicago where out of a possible twenty indoor and outdoor championships, his teams took 13 of them.

Coached At Illinois This record so impressed the athletic department of his Alma Mater that he was offered a position there as head track coach. His time at Illinois was four years with intermittent absence of leave to work on his masters degree in P.E.

His teams in these four years garnered one Big Ten championship, two cross country blue ribbons and never finished lower than third. In 1935, he trained a shuttle relay team which set a world record in winning that event in the Drake Relays.

Seaton then decided to further his already advanced education at New York University. In 1946 he received his Ph.D. and in 1947 he was in duty at UK.

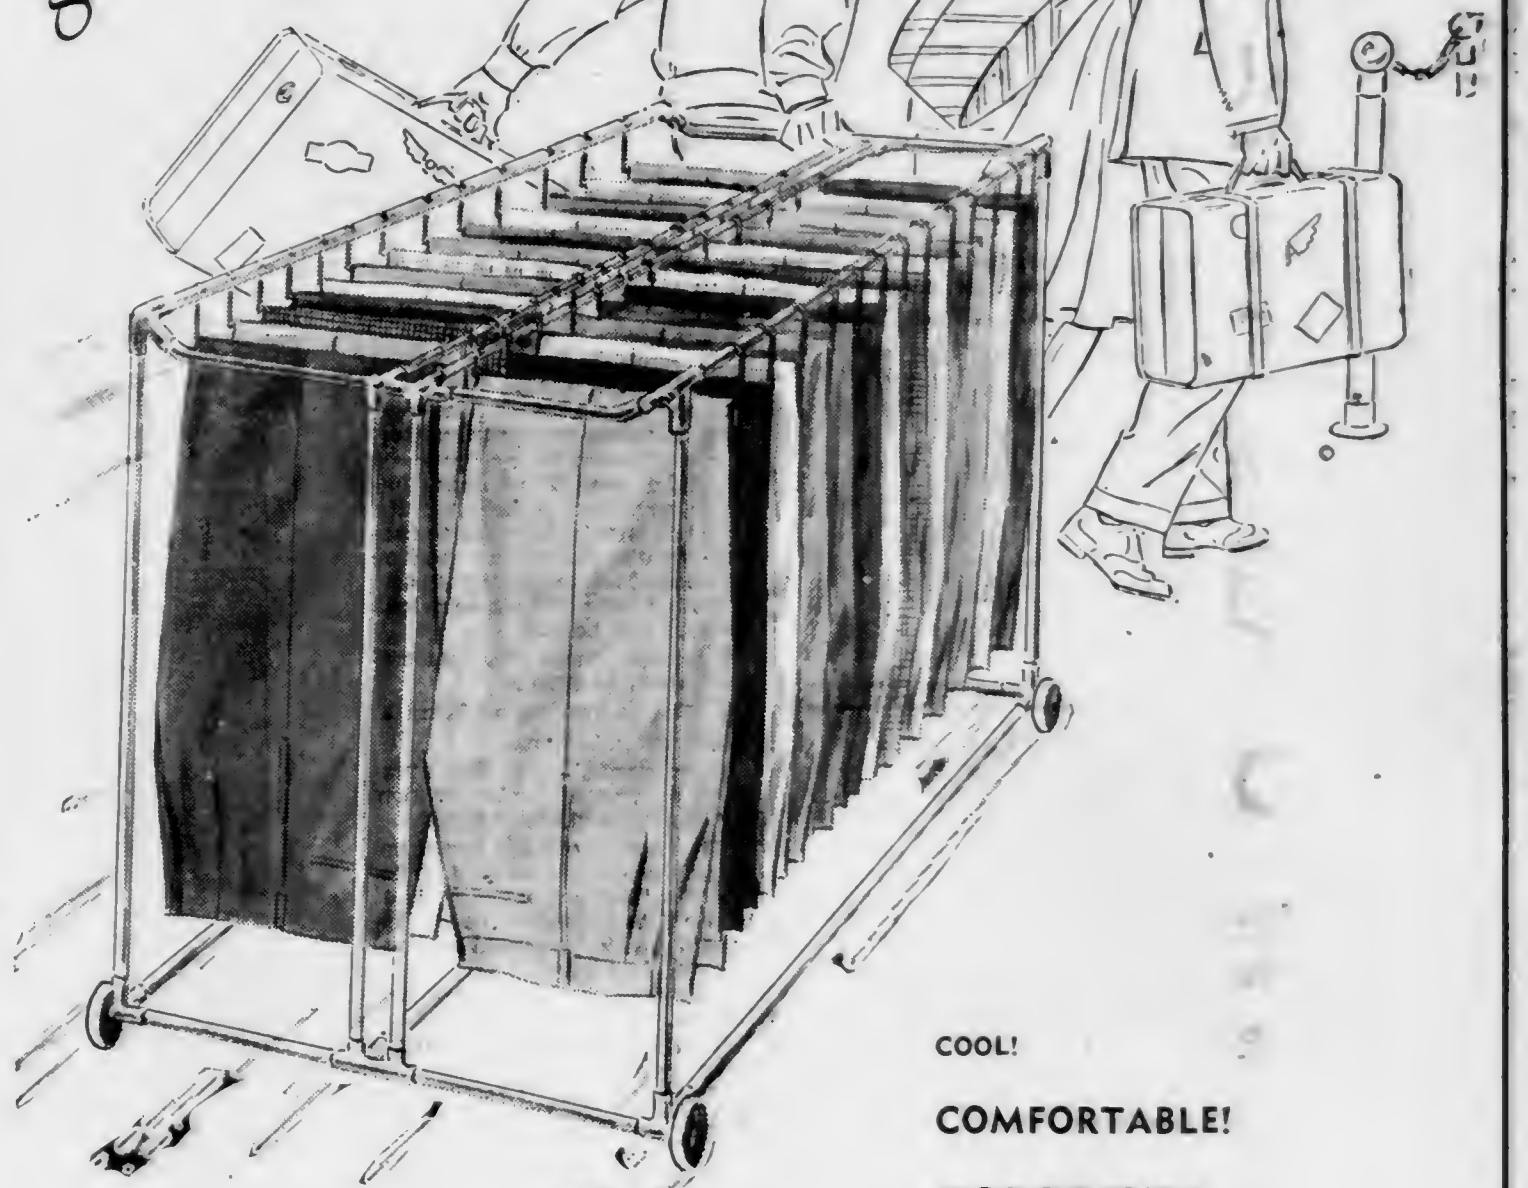

UK Needs Scholarships

In discussing the situation in regards to the future of track, Dr. Seaton seemed rather discouraged due to the football and basketball emphasis and lack of emphasis of minor sports. "It takes champions at a school to bring men to the school and bring the sport up." He said that the lack of scholarships didn't help the prospects, and that "the big track schools such as Illinois, Drake, and other Big Ten and eastern schools give nearly as many scholarships to track men as basketball."

The only scholarship given in track is the one Omicron Delta Kappa, men's honorary, offers one high school star each year.

When queried as to the practices and positions of other SEC schools, he said that the top schools like Auburn, Florida, Georgia Tech, Alabama and LSU, are offering scholarships and other aids.

Neel is president of Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity and a representative to SGA. He is a member of the IFC and the Newman Club.

He is a former Kernel cartoonist, member of the Interfaith Council, committee chairman of Religious Emphasis Week, member of the planning committee of the World Student Service Fund, and chairman of the SGA election committee at the last election.

Introduced Election Changes
Neel introduced changes in election procedures which will be instituted at this election.

Gardner, Constitutional president candidate is a senior in Arts and Sciences. He will graduate in January, and plans to enter graduate school here. He has a 1.9 standing.

Gardner's activities include president of Lances, member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity, and IFC. He is chairman of the SGA judicial committee.

Married and living in Coopers-town, Gardner is a former SGA representative and was chairman of SGA dance committees and the student directory committee. He was also a member of the budget committee last fall.

President Of Keys
His sophomore year, he was president of Keys. He is a past vice president and pledge trainer of SAE.

"The dances were an attempt to get better all-student participation in campus activities at a reasonable cost to the student," Gardner said.

He explained the student directory was late this year because of typographical difficulties, but pointed out that costs were cut more than one-third from last year.

"We have already made plans for a directory next fall to be out less than a month after school begins," Gardner said.

"Sufficient Power"
"I believe SGA has sufficient power to fulfill its function on campus," Gardner stated. "But due to poor cooperation on the part of students, it has allowed its power to go unused."

"SGA spends too much time wrangling over what the Faculty will or will not do, when such time could be better spent formulating plans that are reasonable enough for Faculty approval."

"I think Pat (Patterson) and I have sufficient experience in SGA to know procedures and routine, and to keep the meetings going in a way to accomplish a worthwhile program instead of the chaos of the past," he said.

Miss Patterson Is Junior
Miss Patterson is a junior in Arts and Sciences, with a 2.5 standing. She is in Mortar Board, is vice president of Kappa Delta Sorority, a member of the Newman Club and the Women's Athletic Association.

She is past president of Alpha Lambda Delta, past treasurer of Cwens, and is now on the Women's Administrative Council.

For a year, she was on the SGA judicial committee under past SGA President Jack Ballantine. She was co-chairman of elections a year ago.

"SGA is not a popularity contest, and if elected, we will stress attendance and the feeling that something is accomplished at meetings," Miss Patterson said.

She stressed that she believed the load of SGA duties should be distributed.

"In the past, most of the duties of the assembly have fallen upon a few persons," she said. "If more representatives were given responsibilities, SGA could function better and give everyone a greater feeling of satisfaction."

Henry Neel Challenges Statement

The Constitutional platform includes:

1. An improved phone system, including more phones in the men's residence halls.
2. Improvements in the walk through the Botanical Gardens, especially the walk beside the stadium, which floods at every rain.
3. A student book exchange.

4. A campus bank.
"This is something the Constitutionalists have been interested in for a couple of years, but have not taken action on," Tom Wilborn, Constitutional publicity manager, said. "The added convenience to the student is obvious."

To Seek Vacation Change
5. A change in the vacation dates, lengthening the Easter vacation and shortening the vacation between semesters.

6. Installation of backs to the student seats in Memorial Coliseum.

THE TROPHY FOR BEST COMPANY in competitive drill was awarded to Company F in the ROTC's honors program Monday. Cadet Captain Myer S. Tulkoff, company commander of Company F, is shown receiving the Col. George D. Freeman trophy from Col. C. M. Mount, professor of military science and tactics.

trical, mechanical and hydraulic devices for aircraft.
Wilborn pointed out that University enrollment is declining. The seats left vacant will be sold to non-students, who will not want to sit on bleachers. Thus the adding of backs to student seats will not be a total financial loss, he said.

7. Higher wages for students working on the campus.

8. Change the closing hours at the library to 10:30 p.m.

9. Reorganization of the intramural program to provide for more participation and better facilities.

"We aren't saying the intramural program is bad, because we don't believe it is," Wilborn stated. "We do believe if Mr. McCubbin had an increased staff or a student committee to help him, and if he were allotted more money, it could be improved."

"We don't think there is anything in this platform that is out of range of the power of the SGA," Wilborn said.

The agronomist said he is opposed to fescue because, "there is not enough experimental work to back up the promotion," and because, "forage crop seed promotion is really in Kenney's department."

He said he is not opposed to fescue, but that it is a good grass. He questions, however, the palatability of fescue for livestock. He said that the matter of palatability has been under investigation by the University and that the investigation had been "aggressively opposed" by the fescue faction.

$33,000 Organ To Be Dedicated On Tuesday Night

memory of her husband, James Ben Ali Haggin.

The new instrument is replacing an organ which has been in constant use in Memorial Hall since 1939. Several hundred students studied at the console of the organ, and the instrument was used daily until work began on the new one.

Designed By Holtkamp

Designed by Walter Holtkamp of the Holtkamp Organ, Inc., Cleveland, Ohio, the new instrument was built especially for the space in Memorial Hall and for the specific requirements of the University. Holtkamp was assisted in the planning and construction of the organ by Arnold Blackburn, University organist, and Dr. Edwin E. Stein, head of the UK Music Department.

The console of the new instrument is movable to allow the organist to play from any position on the stage. Built by hand, the organ has been under construction by Holtkamp for about two years.

The design of the organ, described as a departure from the American Romantic style, has been planned to fit the simplicity of the classic architecture of Memorial Hall. Visiting organ experts have ranked the new organ as one of the finest instruments in America and Europe today.

Dr. H. L. Donovan will deliver the dedicatory statement. Dean White will preside at the program.

stars and a Combat Infantry badge in World War II.

"The suspended sentence given Barnstable probably opened the door to the coaching ranks once again for him. Barnstable, who resigned his job as coach at Louisville Manual when the scandal first came into the open, has been approached by at least two Kentucky high schools recently in regards to taking a coaching position. Friends of the ex-Wildcat captain say that he refused to accept any offers until after his trial."

Spivey was charged with first degree perjury despite his repeated protests of innocence. Conviction carries a maximum penalty of five years' imprisonment or $5,000 fine, or both.

Spivey's indictment charges that he falsely denied he discussed deals with alleged fixers in the winter of 1950-51 to arrange the point spread of games. New York District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said Spivey's testimony in a voluntary appearance in New York in February was not borne out by that of others who testified.

Spivey will be represented in New York by Attorneys Elmer Drake and John Y. Brown, both of Lexington.
